

Easter Mad Libs

Created by Teach Beside Me ©2024

All Rights reserved. File is not to be shared, re-sold, or hosted online elsewhere. For personal or educational use only.

Clipart Credit:

The Easter Bunny Adventure

Once upon a time in a(n) _____ land, the Easter Bunny was getting ready for his big day. He hopped around his _____, gathering all the _____ he needed to fill the Easter baskets.
(adjective)

(noun)

(plural noun)

He soon realized he had forgotten the most important thing: his

_____.! Without it, he couldn't deliver the Easter treats.
(noun)

Frantically, he _____ through the _____ forest, searching (verb) (adjective)

for his missing _____. Along the way, he saw a(n) [adjective]
(noun)

squirrel who offered to help.

Together, they searched the forest, looking behind _____ and (plural noun)

under _____, until finally, they stumbled upon the missing
(plural noun)

_____ hidden beneath a pile of _____.
(noun) (plural noun)

With his _____ in hand, the Easter Bunny thanked the helpful
(noun)

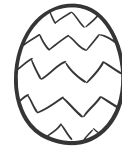

squirrel and _____ off to deliver his Easter goodies. He left (verb (ending in -ed))

behind a trail of _____ eggs for children to find. Easter was (adjective)

saved!

The Great Easter Egg Hunt

In the quiet town of _____, Easter morning dawned with a sense (place)
of excitement in the air. The _____ Easter egg hunt was about to (adjective)
begin, and children of all ages gathered in the town square, clutching their _____ baskets and wearing their most colorful
(adjective)

_____.
(plural noun)

When the the hunt began, the children _____ in every direction,
(verb)
their eyes gleaming with anticipation. Hidden throughout the town were _____ of eggs, each one filled with _____ surprises.
(number) (adjective)
The _____ children raced to find every last _____. Some were (adjective) (noun)
tucked away in _____ places, while others were hidden in plain
(adjective)
sight, waiting to be _____.
(verb ending in -ed)

As the last egg was _____, the town square filled with laughter
(verb)
and chatter. The children _____ together to admire their haul.
(verb ending in -ed)
Their baskets overflowed with an array of _____ treats and
(adjective)
surprises, each one a reminder of the joy and magic of Easter.

The Easter Basket Surprise

One spring day, the Easter Bunny was busy preparing for his annual delivery of baskets. With his supplies in hand, he hopped through the streets, collecting all the items he needed to fill them.

First, he gathered a handful of _____ eggs from the local farm.
(adjective)

Then, he stopped by the bakery to _____ up some freshly baked _____.
(verb) (noun)

Next, he visited the candy shop for a variety of _____ to satisfy everyone's sweet tooth. Finally, he _____ by a field to collect spring grass to cushion the _____ in the basket.
(verb) (noun)

As the town slept, the Easter Bunny _____ made his rounds, leaving behind Easter baskets filled with _____.
(adverb) (noun)

When the children woke up the next morning, they were _____ to find the colorful baskets waiting for them, each one bursting with _____ treats and _____ treasures.
(adjective) (adjective)

The True Easter Story

Easter Sunday arrived with a sense of _____ excitement. The
(adjective)
townsfolk gathered at the _____ church, dressed in their finest
(adjective)
_____ and ready for the day's festivities.
(plural noun)

As the church bells _____, the pastor stood before the (verb)
congregation, his voice filled with _____ reverence. He spoke of (adjective)
the _____ story of Easter, of hope, and of the _____ (adjective) (adjective)
resurrection of Jesus. They sang _____ hymns.
(adjective)

The congregation listened intently, their hearts filled with _____.
(noun)

They were reminded of the _____ sacrifice made for them and
(adjective)
the promise of new _____ that Easter brought.
(noun)

After the service, families gathered outside for a _____ Easter
(adjective)
egg hunt. Children _____ around, _____ for Easter eggs.
(verb) (verb)

There was a sense of gratitude in the _____. In their hearts, they (noun)
knew that Easter was not just about treats, it was a time to reflect on the _____ gift of resurrection and the hope it brought to all.
(adjective)